ABOUT THE 3M4Q COMPETITION

The competition 3M4Q (3 minutes to answer 4 questions) will be organized on Saturday, May 21st, 2022, during the days of the Doctoral School Science & Technology (JEDST). Details about the 2022 edition of the JEDST are found at: <http://www.enis.rnu.tn/fra/pages/427/Journées-EDST>

During the competition 3M4Q, participants are to deliver a short talk in a presentation to convince a diverse audience of the interest of their PhD research. In the 3 minutes talk, they should answer these 4 questions:

The choice of their PhD subject; the way it was tackled; the impact of their research work; and the sustainability of the research results.

DETAILS FOR PARTICIPATION

To be able to participate in this edition of the competition 3M4Q, you should:

- ✓ prepare a 3mn video recording as explained above, and
- ✓ belong to a Tunisian University, and
- ✓ be either a PhD student in the final phase of the thesis, or a new doctor (thesis defended after Oct. 1st, 2021)

Submissions, in French or English, should be done online using this form: 3M4Q JEDST 2022. These will be peer-reviewed based on: A. how the 4 questions are approached (10 points); B. clarity of the presentation (10 points).

Based on the review results, the best submissions will be short-listed. Respective students (15 to 20) will be notified by email and should attend the competition in person. On the day of the competition, the evaluation will be based on feedback from the scientific committee, professors, and guests from the industry.

Submission deadline: Tuesday, April 26, 2022

Notification: Tuesday, May 10, 2022

CERTIFICATES & AWARDS

- ✓ The students who will submit to this competition will receive Doctoral credits and a participation certificate.
- ✓ The 15 to 20 short-listed participants will receive extra Doctoral credits and a participation certificate.
