Call for Papers

The Doctoral School in Economics, Management, and Computer Science (EGI) of the Faculty of Economics and Management of Sfax (FSEG-Sfax) is organizing doctoral days in four specialties (Economics, Management, Computer Science, and Industrial Engineering). The objective of these days is to allow PhD students to present the progress of their thesis work to an audience of specialists (Professors, professionals, and experts) in order to improve the quality of their research, promote exchanges, and cultivate new ideas.

Themes

Four parallel sessions will be organized during these days focusing on the following specialties: Economics, Management, Computer Science, and Industrial Engineering.

Submission Guidelines

PhD students wishing to participate in these days are invited to submit full papers (up to 8 pages) or short papers (up to 3 pages) on their research work.

The selected full papers will be presented as 20-minute oral presentations followed by 10 minutes of discussion, entitling the presenter to earn 8 credits. The selected short papers will be presented as posters, entitling the presenter to earn 6 credits.

Awards will be granted for the best presentations (per session).

The papers must be submitted in PDF format, via the Microsoft CMT platform at <https://cmt3.research.microsoft.com/JEDs2024> and must adhere to one of the templates provided on the event website.

The papers will be published in the proceedings of JED-EGI-2024 (Volume I for full papers and Volume II for short papers).
